

HOW MUCH DOES CAMEROON GAIN FROM ITS NATURAL RESOURCES?

«Publish What You Pay» (PWYP)
 Publish What You Pay (PWYP) is a global civil society coalition that helps citizens of resource-rich developing countries hold their governments accountable for the management of revenues from the oil, gas and mining industries. Natural resource revenues are an important source of income for governments of over 50 developing countries. When properly managed these revenues should serve as a basis for poverty reduction, economic growth and development rather than exacerbating corruption, conflict and social divisiveness.

The Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI)

The Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI) aims to strengthen governance by improving transparency and accountability in the extractives sector. The EITI supports improved governance in resource-rich countries through the verification and full publication of company payments and government revenues from oil, gas and mining. The EITI is a coalition of governments, companies, civil society groups, investors and international organisations. For more information about EITI, see www.eitransparency.org For EITI in Cameroon, see www.eitcameroon.org and www.pccqpm.org.
